

ACTIVE BYSTANDER TRAINING

This community training will give you practical skills to challenge behaviour that reinforces sexist beliefs and stereotypes against women.

You will learn how to identify disrespectful attitudes and challenge them in conversations and various situations.

By working together, we can bring about cultural change and create a safe and supportive community for everybody.

The training will be delivered by Kirk Scotcher, an experienced trainer from No to Violence (NTV). NTV is a peak organisation that works to end violence and abuse among family members.

Training sessions:

Thursday 21 March 2019

9.30am–1.30pm
